Crowder - All My Hope ft. Tauren Wells

Hi I wanted to share a newly completed prophecy. The ball that Puten gave POTUS, is not a foot ball. That is a Milorb, a military orb that when activated can produce an EMP greater than a nuclear detonation. You had a good run HRC, this is what 400mil could have bought you.

You body cavity is not big enough to house even a Milorb much less a TR6. Come on man this is a TS-Q thread.

- >Thinks he is capable of plotting against the person plotting against him.
- >Has been.
- >Caught by the tail.
- >Never had a chance.
- >backlogs the black list to determine who targets him.
- >engineers Milorb to track asset

"Yes, I enjoyed activating the system and make my MilOrb look like a point-like UAP, flaring up, pulsating, showing jerky movements, splitting up into three more lights, fusing into one big orb... Yes, it's fun. It's fun to know that by pressing one button you can scan a given volume of air and that by pushing a slider you can control the pulse power–modulating beam. But no, it is no fun when after a sortie you have to go through that creepy medical tests."

"Have 200 Kw of directed energy pointed at a drone and the drone is dead. Have 200 Kw of directed energy pointed at a MilOrb, and the MilOrb increases its bright and keeps going with its business. That's the difference. By 2030, 60% of all our combat air forces will be fifth-generation aircraft and therefore we will require a modern aircraft to train future fighter and bomber pilots. And 5% of all our combat air forces will be weaponized PSVs. MilOrbs will be an essential force multiplier and a key ingredient in aircrew training devices, including operational flight trainers, and weapons systems trainers.

The test flight of the PSV-25S over the transect Nevada-Arizona, gave birth to the so called Phoenix Lights sighting and caused consolidated the basic premise we wish to induce on the population, i.e. that their technology is vastly superior to ours, their spirituality is vastly superior to ours, and their societies are vastly superior to ours. The pursuit of perfection is of course a fabricated religious goal.

Alice in Wonderland

The aim of the Alice in Wonderland or confusion technique is to confound the expectations and conditioned reactions of the interrogatee. He is accustomed to a world that makes some sense, at least to him: a world of continuity and logic, a predictable world. He clings to this world to reinforce his identity and powers of resistance.

The confusion technique is designed not only to obliterate the familiar but to replace it with the weird. Although this method can be employed by a single interrogator, it is better adapted to use by two or three. When the subject enters the room, the first interrogator asks a double-talk question -- one which seems straightforward but is essentially nonsensical. Whether the interrogatee tries to answer or not, the second interrogator follows up (interrupting any attempted response) with a wholly unrelated and equally illogical query. Sometimes two or more questions are asked simultaneously. Pitch, tone, and volume of the interrogators' voices are unrelated to the import of the questions. No pattern of questions and answers is permitted to develop, nor do the questions themselves relate logically to each other. In this strange atmosphere the subject finds that the pattern of speech and thought which he has learned to consider normal have been replaced by an eerie meaninglessness. The interrogatee may start laughing or refuse to take the situation seriously. But as the process continues, day after day if necessary, the subject begins to try to make sense of the situation, which becomes mentally intolerable. Now he is likely to make significant admissions, or even to pour out his story, just to stop the flow of babble which assails him. This technique may be especially effective with the orderly, obstinate type.

Bob Who?

Is that so? Turns to the judge, "Your honor" hands the judge a string of dreams and explains to the judge what the significance of the sequence represents. Pulls out of his briefcase a full list of his dreams and his families dreams and hands them to the judge. "Judge I will like to grant you knowledge into the illegal use of ANDRL."

He knows nothing, I shared what I was comfortable with and he broke my trust immediately. Andrl was public knowledge already, no more data shall come from me as knowledge runs like water out of minds.

So then, remote viewing is essential to the ANDRL research i take it? The symbols are representative of Blue Magic. Can you translate the language?

How do you know about ANDRL?

Oh yes indeed, you probably should not have posted so many fat black women on here in the past. ITT a dead giveaway of who is posting this. Mike what are you sweating over black ops for? Isn't it already too late to sweat like that? Mr President totally knows about ANDRL. Apologize right now.

Appears... that is a critical thinking standpoint. On the other hand. When you don't have the ability to locate a certain Body Oder from an Aroma that doesn't exist. "Suppose" others were to find out. ANDRL acronym for making people think about things less than doing things, right?

What's there not to know?
