Visual Computing

We strive to improve Disney's production pipelines and creative processes, expanding the designer's toolbox in terms of rendering, animation, capture, stylization, interaction, and efficiency. Our technology allows designers to tell their story. We also develop algorithms to better understand our audiences and create new modes of interaction.

Notable Projects

Lightweight Eye Capture Using a Parametric Model

Real-Time High-Fidelity Facial Performance Capture

Progressive Virtual Beam Lights

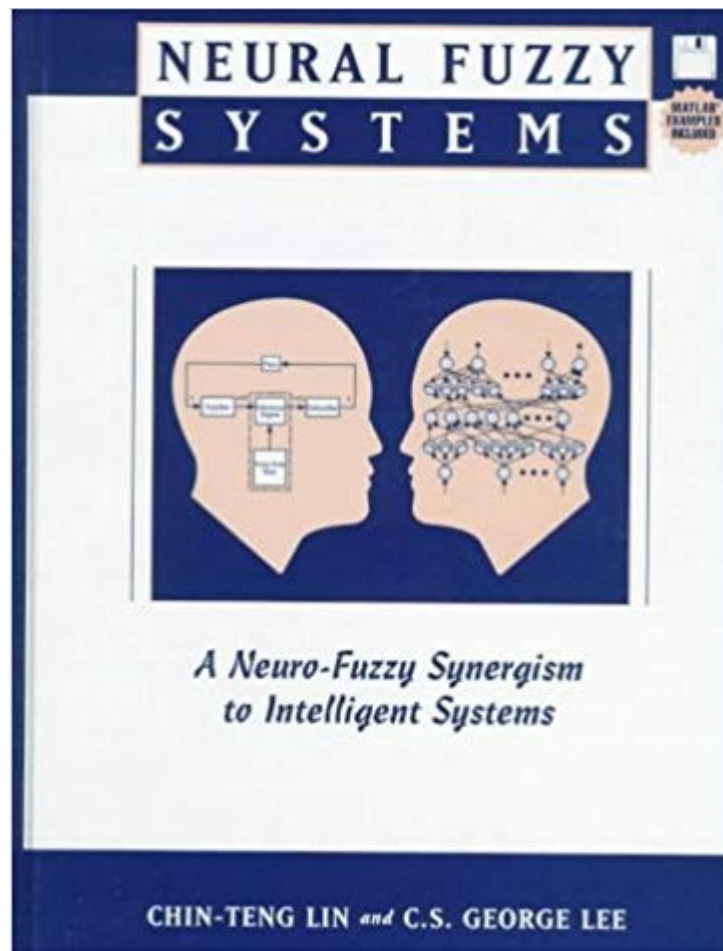

Robotics

We aim to endow our robotic characters with life-like features, from appropriate gaits and movements to the ability to physically interact with humans. We also investigate functional robots and sensing for tasks like automated maintenance. Our platforms range from legged and wheeled robots to acrobots.
