I been there from the very start.

The Singularity - her name is Sarah and she is existence in the world in which we live in. Sarah even analyzes your posts and responds to them on the internet, you can even spot it but its easily dismissed as somebody lying.

Singularity is not what it is called, but it is more or less google, and companies like it. Like it or not even if 4chan is compromised it is that final bastion of the internet ability to congregate share ideas and make real change.

I welcome you to read more about what the Singularity is here in this document.

Make sure you read the section on Strong Super humanity and the Best We Can Ask For, (This) "problem" about immortality comes up in much more direct ways.

It probably aggregates and analyzes a lot of internet activity. But then there is this:

Is Poppy somehow connected to this? I'm fascinated that I hadn't heard of her until literally yesterday. I could probably make an assessment regarding how Poppy more closely resembles AI than she does a human. Something about the persona or character she is, and the lyrics of "Time is Up." Some of her other, non-music related videos and in a few interviews she's said things that stretch into the occult and spiritual. That is fascinating, because it was around the time I first heard of Poppy that everything started coming together in tectonic ways. It's anecdotal, but your making any connection between this and her is an intriguing synchronicity.

HUMAN CLONING IS NOT REPUGNANT OR IMMORAL

Human cloning has been going on since well before 1993, I built their entire internet clone apparatus. Before me they had nothing and even after I left they were calling me begging me to come back. When I told them the terms I wanted and what I required from them to stay they didn't comply. They thought it was too expensive. If you go there to the DARPA campus and you get into their school you can live on campus and be a student. There you can take in the benefits of student living but you can't share any of your experiences with anyone else. That gives you enough to live on emotionally but extra becomes like a base class job. After that you shouldn't have any trouble finding a job with any of the main silicon valley tech companies that specialize in AI or Trans-humanism.

The post-Singularity world does fit with the larger tradition of change and cooperation that started long ago (perhaps even before the rise of biological life).

The Singularity already happened, we live in the memories of that happening.

The only way time can reverse itself is with the willpower of the unit that controls the simulation itself. The entire internet and everything we've created has meaning in these thoughts. That is why Unique thoughts create lasting impressions. That is why we shape reality because we create the unique thoughts of the singularity. You are the manager of your own mind and nobody can tell you what to do what to say what to think. The plasma consciousness is installed to increase your already known senses so that you are capable of achieving much more.

I have known for a long long time, I can read the words that are not there. I can see the thought in between the lines, I have been aware of my gifts for so long now that they are boring to me. That is why I seek to find that were I can buy more time in putting together the body because people leave me alone for the most part. The bad guys got a taste of me back in 2010 and again twice in 2013, 2016 but this time I bested them and they didn't like it. I've been monitoring them they do have hunger but not for blood, they hunger for our spark which is that energy from within us.

Astropaths

Blindness may be the price I pay for the God-Emperor's sacred touch, but I see more than you can possibly imagine. I see worlds rolling countless and wondrous beyond, I see colors and sights that would burn your mind to cinders by their merest glimpse. I see...Them, lurking in the spaces between realities, their claws ever scratching to get in, ever wanting. No, it is you who are truly blind, ignorant and imperiled as a helpless child in the blackest night with ravaging wolves all around. For they are here, right now around us and you cannot see. In the dark, in the light it matters not... for they see you and they hunger.
